

ICEAA Dues Rates Changing Effective April 1, 2015:

Having performed a thorough analysis of ICEAA's current and projected financial situation, as well as an analysis of membership value, the ICEAA International Board gave very careful and thoughtful consideration to the issue of increasing membership dues. There has not been an increase to membership dues in over 20 years. However, over that same period of time, there has been an ever increasing level of service and member benefits. Paired with simple inflation, the $55 annual dues rate no longer covers the rising costs and expenses of the association commensurate with the benefits provided, resulting in depleting our reserve funds for continued operations.

	Current Rates (Through March 31)	New Rates (Effective April 1)

- ◆Lifetime memberships are no longer available for purchase, but existing lifetime memberships will continue to be honored.
- ◆Current members may extend their membership by one or two years at the current rate. For example, if your expiration date is August 1, 2015, you may purchase an additional year at this time and postpone your expiration date to August 1, 2016.
- ◆The ICEAA bylaws grant members a 120-day grace period from their expiration date before member benefits are terminated. The new expiration date for members renewing within the grace period will be one year from the original expiration date. For example, if your expiration date is July 4, 2015 and you renew on September 1, 2015, your expiration date will be July 4, 2016. Membership renewals purchased after the grace period and consequent lapse of service will be treated as new members.

Fellow ICEAA Members:

I am writing on behalf of the ICEAA Board of Directors with important information concerning your ICEAA membership dues. Effective April 1, 2015, annual dues will increase to $95.

Having performed a thorough analysis of ICEAA's current and projected financial situation, as well as an analysis of membership value, the Board gave very careful and thoughtful consideration to the issue of increasing membership dues. There has not been an increase to membership dues in over 20 years. However, over that same period of time, there has been an ever increasing level of service and member benefits. Paired with simple inflation, the $55 annual dues rate no longer covers the rising costs and expenses of the association commensurate with the benefits provided, resulting in depleting our reserve funds for continued operations.

The Board has calculated a new dues structure that will sufficiently fund member benefits including:

- The Journal of Cost Analysis and Parametrics
- ICEAA World
- The new website
- The new database engine behind the ICEAA Members Only Portal
- The direct support provided to our chapters and members

The increased rate will provide a modest surplus, which will reverse the impact on reserve funds and provide capital to launch new initiatives, such as additional online members-only features, a new version of CEBoK, and enhanced resources for members and chapters.

The current dues rates will be available through March 31, 2015. New, renewing, and expired members may purchase or extend their membership for one year at $55 or two years at $100 during this time. Lifetime memberships, however, are no longer available. Starting April 1, the ICEAA dues structure will be as follows:

- One Year: $95
- Two Years: $170
- Five Years: $425
- Student: $45

To extend or renew your membership, please visit www.iceaaonline.org/login or scan and email a completed membership application.

In addition, the fees for CCEA and PCEA certification will be increased slightly to keep in line with cost increases. The following certification fees will become effective April 1. The fee for re-certification will remain at $125.

- PCEA Member: $150
- PCEA Non-Member: $275
- CCEA Member: $300
- CCEA Non-Member: $475

Renew/extend your membership
at the current rates before
March 31, 2015

Your membership and active participation in the work of this association is greatly valued. Some of you reading this have been members of ICEAA or one of our predecessors for upwards of 30 years, a genuine indication of the lasting value our association provides to the cost community. We believe that this dues increase will help to ensure that the association remains viable and is properly funded for years to come, to meet the needs of our cost professionals' community.

Sincerely,
Brian Glauser
